THE SENATE VOTES FOR BIMETALLISM

MEMBERS PASS THE CONFERENCE BILL.

Almost Unanimous For the Measure—International Representatives Will Gather to Discuss the Financial Question—Exciting Scene In the House.

Washington, Jan. 30.—By the decisive vote of 46 to 4 the senate Friday passed the bill for the appointment of commissioners to an international money conference. The closing of the debate brought out several notable speeches and disclosed that little opposition existed against the bill, the only division being as to the expediency of seeking bimetallism through international agreement. As voicing the general view on the Democratic side of the chamber, Mr. Jones and Mr. Gorman favored the adoption of the measure exactly as Republican senators desired, in order that the responsibility might be theirs. Mr. Hoar's speech attracted attention and was one of the most noteworthy utterances of the veteran senator made in recent days. He spoke of his observations in Europe during last summer and expressed the conviction that the four great nations—the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany—were fast and inevitably tending toward a bimetallic agreement.

Mr. Vilas characterized the bill as vicious and misleading. It was wholly illusory, perhaps deceitful, in the promise it held out.

Mr. Stewart congratulated Mr. Vilas upon his conclusions, saying he, too, had long seen the futility of international conferences.

Mr. Pettigrew (S. D.) said he would merely record his protest against the bill. He believed the United States should act alone, and that we should no longer be suppliants at the feet of European nations, who were our creditors.

Mr. Allen (Pop., Neb.), while ridiculing the bill and declaring that the conference was doomed to be a contemptible farce, said he would not seek to defeat it.

In the course of the debate Mr. Jones (Ark.) said he believed in allowing the friends of the bill to shape it in their own way. He desired them to have complete opportunity to try the plan for an international conference. He believed it would fail, and yet there were many earnest friends of silver who believed the plan would succeed. The last election had shown that the sentiment was almost universal for bimetallism, the only division being as to the method of bringing it about. If it came through an international agreement he would accept it gladly.

Mr. Gallinger (Rep., N. H.) earnestly supported the bill.

Mr. Blanchard (Dem., La.) said he would vote for the bill as a step toward bimetallism, although he favored a distinct American system.

Mr. White (Dem., Cal.) declared that while the bill would prove abortive, yet its Republican friends should be left untrammeled to make the effort they desired.

Mr. Allison (Rep., Iowa) urged that the believers in stable money felt it wise to see whether or not other commercial nations would unite with us in bringing the money metals into closer relation, and thus test whether the metals could circulate on the agreed ratio, side by side. Mr. Allison asserted that each international conference had materially advanced the concurrent use of gold and silver. Outside of Great Britain and the Scandinavian states, Europe was favorable to bimetallism, although the attitude of Germany was shifting and uncertain. Mr. Gorman said the American people favored bimetallism, and would not much longer submit to methods which did not bring definite results in that direction.

The first vote was on the Cannon substitute, making action by the president imperative within ninety days from March 4. Mr. Chandler moved to table the substitute, which motion, on a roll call, prevailed, yeas 41, nays 8.

The amendment of Mr. Bacon adding a new section distinctly authorizing the president to call the conference was agreed to. The bill thus amended was then put on its final passage. The call was followed with keen interest. It resulted yeas 46, nays 4, as follows:

Yeas—Republican—Baker, Brown, Cameron, Carter, Chandler, Clark, Cullom, Davis, Frye Gallinger, Gear, Hale, Hawley, Hoar, Lodge, McBride, McMillan, Nelson, Perkins, Platt, Sherman, Shoup, Thurston, Wetmore—24. Democrats—Bacon, Bate, Blackburn, Blanchard, Call, Faulkner, Gibson, Gorman, Gray, Jones (Ark.), Lindsay, Mills, Mitchell (Wis.), Murphy, Pugh, Tillman, Turpie, Walthall, White—19. Populist—Jones (Nev.), Peffer—2. Independent—Cannon.

Nays—Democrats—Roach, Vilas—2. Populist—Allen. Independent—Pettigrew.

THE HOUSE STIRRED UP.

Vermont and Massachusetts Representatives Use Harsh Language.

Washington, Jan. 30.—The house Friday witnessed another exciting and somewhat sensational episode. At the end of an acrimonious debate on the conference report on the bill to confer the rights and franchises of the Atlantic & Pacific railroad on the purchasers under the mortgage foreclosure, Mr. Powers (Vt.) and Mr. Barrett (Mass.) exchanged broadsides. Mr. Barrett was particularly severe in his criticisms, charging that a stock-jobbing operation was behind the measure. This drew from Mr. Powers a reply in which he charged that Boston was the home of the railroad wreckers, and with keen satire ridiculed the Massachusetts member and continued that perhaps he was "interested" in his opposition.

Mr. Barrett, in responding, was very vicious, not only denying absolutely any interest in the bill, but scoring Mr. Powers, who, he said, was on the supreme bench of Vermont when the Central railroad of that state was "wrecked under its decree."

Mr. Powers explained the nature of the agreement reached by the conferees. One of the provisions of the report which was combated was that providing for an issue of stock by the new company to the amount of the funded debt unpaid at the time of foreclosure, and limiting it to $100,000,000. With regard to the house amendment requiring that as a condition precedent to reorganization the purchasers should relinquish in writing all claims to land granted to the Atlantic & Pacific road, and unearned July 6, 1886, which the conferees abandoned, Mr. Powers said that the question as to the forfeiture of land grants was now before the supreme court. If the court declared they were not forfeited he argued that the mortgagees were entitled to these lands. If they were forfeited no legislation was needed on the subject.

The house, by a vote of 71 to 143, rejected the report of the conference, and directed the house conferees to insist on the house amendments. Instructions were also given to the conferees to inist on an amendment, making the new corporation liable for all the debts of the old company existing twelve months prior to the appointment of the receiver.

The remained of the day was spent in the discussion of the agricultural appropriation bill.

THE TRADE REVIEW BY DUN & COMPANY

THEY CONSIDER THE YEAR WELL STARTED.

First Month Shows a Record of Real Gain In Trade—Iron Plants and Woolen Mills Start Up—The Spirit Of Activity Generally Prevailing.

New York, Jan. 30.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

"January has been a month of disappointment, but of real gain. Wheat has declined, cotton has scarcely risen enough to pay brokerage, wool holds steady, in spite of generous buying, woolen goods hardly change in prices, iron and its products decline, leather is sluggish, hides are lower, as some shoe manufacturers accept a shade lower prices, the average of railroad stocks is slightly lower than it was Dec. 31, and the advance in trust stocks has been small. To traders in such properties the month has been disappointing.

"Yet during the last week the record shows that ten iron works have started, and only two have stopped; thirteen woolen works have started, and nine more are about ready to start, while three have stopped. Similar things are seen in other industries, and the additional establishments are not starting without some incerase in orders received.

"The decline in wheat was over 6 cents, in spite of an official report of a yield far below the estimates generally accepted. This reflects a perception of the error of the report, and also of the influence of the enormous exports of corn, instead of wheat, which were 80,000,000 bushels in seven months. When two bushels of corn can be had for less than one bushel of wheat it is largely preferred in European markets. As the great crop of corn prevents much advance in its price, its outgo affects the demand for wheat, and a heavy liquidation of speculation has occurred, with the price of corn scarcely changing.

"Iron and steel show little gain, as production has increased heavily before, and the gradual enlargement of demand for finished products has not overtaken that increase. Tin and copper are a shade stronger, but competition causes sales of tin plates 10 to 15 cents below the agreed price.

"The failures for the week have been 331 in the United States, against 404 last year, and 57 in Canada, against 70 last year."

RASH MAY BE LYNCHED.

Mob Threatens Life of the Nebraska Farmer Who Killed His Family.

Wayne, Neb., Jan. 30.—An excited crowd was around the jail Friday threatening Clarence Rash, the farmer who was arrested at his home near here, surrounded by the mutilated remains of his wife and three children, all hacked and battered out of all semblance of human forms. His only statement when, covered with the blood of his innocent babes and wife, he was approached by the sheriff was that the bible was his defense and that the good book would prove that he but did his duty. But some think that family trouble yet unrevealed was the cause of the tragedy. The murderer is undoubtedly crazy on the subject of religion.

Perhaps the event next of interest during the week was the appointment, on a resolution by Senator Timme, of a joint committee of five to make a tour of investigation among several state departments in the capitol, ascertain the number of employes in each and the salaries paid and report to the legislature a bill in which shall be incorporated any changes either in number or salaries which the committee deems advisable. It is understood that this reform is aimed especially at the land office and that the committees bill will recommend cutting the present force of seventeen to, including messenger, janitor and stenographer to three and placing the department under the jurisdiction of the secretary of state. Also the number of students receiving instruction from each professor, the number of recitations each one hears, and hours of instruction given, together with the total receipts and expenditures of the university item by item and for what purpose made, for the year 1896." JOYS OF MATERNITY.

VIGOROUS MOTHERS AND STURDY CHILDREN ADMIRED.

Why so Many Women Are Childless—A Problem That Has Puzzled Physicians for Centuries.

Reproduction is a law of nature, and no picture of joy and happiness can equal that of the vigorous mother and her sturdy child.

Nature makes but few mistakes, and every thoughtful person must admit that a cause exists, why so many women are childless.

The subject baffles the theories of physicians. Such cases are curable nine times out of ten, as evidenced by thousands of letters on file at Mrs. Pinkham's office. Many a darling baby owes its existence to Mrs. Pinkham's advice and the Vegetable Compound. This is not to be wondered at when such testimony as the following explains itself.

"I have taken three bottles of your Vegetable Compound, one package of Sanative Wash, one box of Liver Pills; and now I have a dear little babe four weeks old, and I am well. I have to thank you for this.

"I have spent $200.00 for doctor's bills without obtaining any relief. For my cure I only spent $5.00.

"I had been a victim of female troubles in their worst form; suffered untold agonies every month; had to stay in bed, and have poultices applied, and then could not stand the pain.

"My physician told me if I became pregnant I would die. I had bladder trouble, itching, backache, catarrh of the stomach, hysteria and heart trouble, fainting spells and leucorrhœa. Can you wonder that I sing the praises of a medicine that has cured me of all these ills?"—MRS. GEO. C. KIRCHNER, 372 Belmont Ave., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Hundreds of People Who Received a Sample of

DR. HOBBS SPARAGUS KIDNEY PILLS

From C. D. Stevens, Pharmacist, Corner Main and Milwaukee Streets, Make Their Report.

Of the total number of persons who secured samples of Dr. Hobbs Sparagus Kidney Pills, and have reported have either been entirely cured, or greatly benefitted, quite a number of those who reported live in towns outside of Janesville. They report that Dr. Hobbs Sparagus Kidney Pills have been creating quite a sensation in their towns; in fact, we have strong reason to believe wherever Janesville newspapers circulate, the public test that Dr. Hobbs has been making in this city has been closely watched.

From the large number of letters received daily from persons testing these pills; they indicate clearly the interest being taken by men and women who have suffered for years with distressing and dangerous kidney and kindred ailments, which doctors have been unable to cure, and who are rejoiced to know that there has at last been discovered an absolute specific for their complaint.

ASPARAGUS

Useful Both as a Food and as a Medicine.—Its Sovereign Medicinal Virtues.

Scarcely one person in ten but what is fond of Asparagus. Though relished as a food, but few persons know that they are really taking a medicine.

French scientists first discovered that the whole plant—but more particularly the root and berries, contained a white crystalline substance known as "Asparagin."

Experiments on both human beings and animals proved conclusively that the action of Asparagin was directly on the kidneys, and that it possessed marvelous powers of healing and strengthening these organs, and in assisting them in doing their most important work of filtering the poisons and impurities out of the blood and casting them out with the urine.

You, yourself, must have noticed the increased flow of urine and the peculiar odor it has, after you have eaten Asparagus.

But, of course, there is very little of the real medicinal virtues of Asparagus in the few shoots, or tops, eaten at a meal.

It is found principally in the roots, the dried tops and the berries.

It is from these that the now celebrated Dr. Hobbs Sparagus Kidney Pills are made, and in them will be found the medicinal principle of Asparagus in its purest and most active form, and with it are combined five of the most active vegetable kidney medicines.—Buchu, Pareira Brava, Uva Ursa, Corn Silk, and Juniper Berries.

Dr. Hobbs Sparagus Kidney Pills agree with the most delicate stomach, and make strong, healthy kidneys, clean and pure blood, and bright, clear, active mind an absolute certainty.

IMPROVED CONDITIONS

There havn been no bank failures in three weeks and even the four or five that occured in December lose their significance when the facts are reviewed. Not one of the failures was to a run, to a depression in business, or to any other of the general causes of such misfortunes. In every instance, the source was within and not without. That is to say, the failures were brought about by mismanagement, and nothing else. It will also be noticed that every national bank that has recently closed was closed by a bank examiner; they did not voluntarily assign or go into liquidation. The explanation, we are told, lies in the fact that in 1893, when financial crashes were so plentiful, the comptroller of the currency, in order to alleviate the situation as much as possible, permitted a number of banks that were shaky to continue in business, believing that they could stand the strain at the time and eventually gain satisfactory strength. Some of these concerns did pick up, and are now in excellent condition; but many others did not, and the comptroller is now weeding them out before his term of office expires, so that his successor may find the banking system in an entirely safe and healthy state. This seems reasonable, although Comptroller Eckles was censured severely for the looseness indicated in the Chicago case.

The fact that none of the bank failures pulled down large mercantile houses shows how greatly the result of the presidential election has improved business conditions. The feeling of confidence is stronger than it has been for several years, and that we are steadily approaching an era of better times for all interests and all classes.

THE CABINET.

Mr. McKinley seems to be quite a hand at making cabinets himself. Three months ago knowing politicians told one another that the cabinet would be formed by the man who had engineered the campaign—Mark A. Hanna. No such talk is heard today. So far as the cabinet has been chosen, it has been chosen by Mr. McKinley himself, and the wisdom shown has raised him higher than ever in the nation's esteem.

No president of the past third of a century, with the single exception of Garfield, had on taking office, such a wide acquaintance among public men of national standing as Mr. McKinley possesses. His long and conspicious service in congress brought him in contact with most of them, at one time and another, and he had excellent opportunity to learn their capabilities and standing. The people may rely confidently upon him to make no mistake in chosing his official family.

THE CAUCUS MEASURE.

The caucus reform movement is making steady progress. Senator T. B. Mills finds little opposition to his bill extending the Milwaukee caucus system at all points of 5,000 population or over. The time is near at hand when nominations for office by all parties will be made at primary elections under the supervision of the regular election officers and with proper guarantees of a fair vote and an honest count. Such a method is in the interest of good government, and tends to stimulate activity in the important matter of getting capable and worthy men selected as candidates, as has been demonstrated wherever the plan has been adopted.

The Englishman who saw the coronation of the Emperor of Russia and of the Emperor of Germany is now in the United States, for the purpose of seeing how we install a new ruler. He will find the methods as widely different as the people and the rulers of the three countries.

Mark Twain is in London trying to begin life over. He is writing a book the proceeds of which he hopes will enable him to pay off his debts and have something left, and thousands who have enjoyed his work join in hoping that he may not be disappointed.

Bryan's publishers are working hard to advertise his book, but it will not be surprising if the book, like the lecture tour, ends in failure. The people have had enough Bryanism to last them a long time.

Tom Watson has the laugh on Marion Butler, who sets himself up as boss for the whole populist outfit and who made such a fizzle of the attempt to control those of his own state legislature.

Treaties are sent to the senate to be carefully considered, and there is no good reason why an exception should be made by rushing the arbitration treaty through.

Poor old Peffer! Repudiated by the Kansas populists, where can he look for a refuge for his whiskers and his isms?

MANY EXTEND AID TO THE CITY POOR

DONATIONS COME FROM ALL OVER TOWN.

Water Company Give Twenty Tons of Coal, and Several Cash Contributions Swell the Fund—The Responses to Mayor Baines' Proclamation Have Been Liberal.

The appeal for help issued by Mayor B. S. Baines in behalf of the poor has been liberally responded to from all sections of the city.

The Janesville Water Company comes to the front with a donation of twenty tons of coal, and this is followed by A. P. Burnham of the Rock County National Bank who gives $10.

Alderman S. O. Burnham was stopped this morning by a public spirited lady, who handed him $5, with the instructions that it be added to the poor fund.

The headquarters on South River street are soon to be in shape to receive all goods and the store will be open all of next week.

Ex-Alderman Winslow stated this morning that the committee had received calls from all sections of the city where goods were awaiting them and that there was little doubt but what there would be enough on hand next week to supply the needy.

The committees having the work in charge will commence a "tour of collection" next week among those who have donations to make.

H. B. JOHNSON will again assume the management of the Johnstown Center hotel, which was until lately run by Bart Kehoe.

IS IT CURABLE?

A Question Often Asked by Those Afflicted with Piles.

Is a strained joint curable? Is local inflammation curable? Of course, if properly treated. So is piles.

People often become afflicted with piles and ask some old "chronic" who has always persisted in the wrong treatment and naturally he discourages them by telling them that their case is hopeless.

They in turn discourage others, and thus a disease that can in every case be cured by careful and skillful handling is allowed to sap the energy of thousands who might free themselves of the trouble in a few days.

Pyramid Pile Cure will cure the most aggravated case of hemorrhoids in an astonishingly short time. It relieves the congested parts, reduces the tumors instantly no matter how large, allays the inflammation and stops the aching or itching at once.

Thousands who had resorted to expensive surgical treatment have been cured by the Pyramid Pile Cure in a number of instances persons who had spent months in a hospital under a pile specialist.

It is a remedy that none need fear to apply even to the most aggravated, swollen and inflamed hemorrhoidal tumors.

If you are afflicted with this stubborn disease you can master it and master it quickly.

This remedy is no longer an experiment, but a medical certainty. It is manufactured by the Pyramid Drug Co. of Albion, Mich.

Druggists sell it at 50 cents and $1.00 per box. It is becoming the most popular pile cure this country has ever known and druggists everywhere are ordering it for their customers.

IS HE "A GOOD ONE?"

MRS. DIXON, 68 Chatham street, Janesville, suffered with rheumatism eight years. Had been treated by many physicians and taken "sure cures" but constantly grew worse until she was helpless. Her case became well known as a hopeless one. M. Alden Morehouse, the New York Specialist, now permanently located at the Murdock Flats, North Franklin street, was called to see her a month ago. His friends advised him to refuse the case as it was incurable and could only injure his business. He did not fear such a result and at once began a preparatory course in nerve, skin and muscle feeding to prepare her system for remedies which are to follow. People then said: "If he can do anything for Mrs. Dixon he is a good one." After one month of preparatory treatment he has her permission to ask all who are interested, for themselves or for others, to call and see what improvement has already taken place and then answer for themselves the question, as above.

FINSKE IS FROZEN BESIDE THE ROAD

An Edgerton Man Meets a Tragic Death Last Night.

WAS FOUND KKEELING IN THE SNOW DEAD.

Whisky Was the Cause, He Having Become Bewildered While Intoxicated, and Sunk Into a Fatal Slumber—Young Man Who Was Returning From a Dance Finds His Rigid Remains—Sick Wife and Four Children Survive.

Kneeling beside the road, with his head clutched tightly between his hands, Charles Finske, an industrious German, aged forty years, was found twenty rods from his home in Edgerton at four o'clock this morning, dead.

Whisky had so befogged his brain that he knew not what he was about and he had frozen to death in the position in which he had crouched down probably some hours before.

Finske was the only support of a sick wife and a family of children and to them his tragic death is a severe blow.

The Edgerton firemen gave their annual dance last evening and at four o'clock this morning, Fred Sherman of Newville, who had been at the party, started for home on foot. He was walking briskly along, when he saw what looked like a man, crouched down in the road.

Found Finske Frozen.

Walking up to the object, he found that his conclusion was correct Finske had evidently kneeled down, and held his hands to his heads, presumably to keep his ears warm, and had frozen while in that position The authorities were notified, and the body was taken care of. The man had evidently been dead for some hours, as the body was frosen stiff.

Finske had been down town during the evening, and had been drinking heavily. He started home while under the influence of liquor, and probably became so confused that he did not know where he was or what he was doing. His home was but a few rods from the place where he was found, but he had evidently fallen into a fatal sleep while vainly seeking to find it in the darkness.

Was a Well Known Resident.

Finske was a well known resident of Edgerton, having made that city his home for twenty years. He resided in the Third ward, and had served one term in the Board of Supervisors from that ward. He was an industrious man, and had no bad habits except the love for liquor that cost him his life.

A wife, who has been sick for the past year, and four children survive him, and thoy are left in poor circumstances.

A coroner's inquest was ordered, and is b ing held this afternoon.

The funeral will be held from the German Evangelical church on Sunday morning.

Finske, it is said, went down town to get medicine for his wife, but afterward got drunk and lost his way.

HELPED TO WELCOME GEN. LA FAYETTE

INTERESTING CHAPTER IN MRS. OSBORNE'S LIFE.

She and Her Sister Were the Only Survivors Of a Party Of Thirteen Young Ladies Who Took Part In the Great Frenchman's Reception In 1824.

Mrs. Pheobe A. Osborne, formerly of Fulton, who died at Chicago a few days ago, was one of the two only survivors of a company of thirteen young girls, who took part in the reception of Gen. LaFayette in the summer of 1824, in the village of Madison N. J., then known as "Battle Hill." Gen. LaFayette had been visiting the headquarters of Gen. Washington, at Morristown, and on his return the people of the village tendered him a reception at the old tavern kept by Col. S. D. Hunting. Col. Brittain, long since dead, acted as Marshal. When the General arrived at Battle Hill, with his suit, escorted by Col. Brittian and staff, he was received by these young girls with the Misses P. A. Sayre (Osborne) and Elmira Crane, as leaders, the eldest of the number. They were all dressed in white, their dresses trimmed tastefully with flowers and evergreens, and were introduced to the general by their teacher, J. T. Durthick, a name very prominent in educational interests in that part of Morris county. After the introduction they recited an ode, in concert, written by their teacher. After the recitation, the leaders gave an enrolled copy of the ode to the general. He acknowledged the courtesy of the girls in a pleasant way, shaking hands with each of them.

The other surviving member of the party was Mrs. E. K. Wallin, mother of Mrs. Elizabeth Jessup of Edgerton.

Sketch of Her Life.

Mrs. Osborne was born in Madison, Morris county, N. J., March 14, 1812. In her early years her father, Baxter Sayre, moved to New York city, where she lived many years of her early life, and where she was married in 1863 to Milo osborne. In 1852 she came with her family to Wisconsin, and resided on the farm now owned by Mrs. E. F. Sayre. As her children grew up she saw the need of better schools for them, and moved to Beloit, where her two sons and daughters were educated. Her eldest son, Henry S. Osborne, graduated from Beloit college at the beginning of the Civil war, and immediately enlisted in the Eighth Illinois Cavalry, in which regiment he served until the end of the contest. During the last years of her life Mrs. Osborne resided in Chicago. She was a woman of great force of character, of large culture and education, and of peculiar personal attraction. Her life was an illustration of broad Christian activity and benevolence, reaching out into every walk of life, and lifting many into better and more gracious living Her death was quiet and peaceful. She lies in the Fulton cemetery, near her mother and grand children.

Lucian F. Smith.

Lucian F. Smith died at his home on the "Chase farm" near Milton Junction at 6:45 o'clock last evening.

Janesville people will remember Mr. Smith as a former Chicago & Northwestern engineer. For many years he resided in this city, making his home at the corner of West Bluff and Madison streets. Failing health compelled him to give up his place, however, and he took possession of the Chase farm in the hope that the outdoor life would be of benefit, he being afflicted with a disease of the kidneys. For some days past he had been very ill. ELECTED SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Secretary D. W. Watt Declined to Serve Again, As He Would Be Absent From the City Much of the Time Next Summer—Other Business Done.

Alderman George M. McKey was today elected secretary of the Rock County Agricultural society, by acclamation, Secretary D. W. Watt declining to serve again.

The adjourned annual meeting of the society was held at the court house this afternoon. A quorum was present, 117 out of the 227 stockholders being represented—73 in person and 44 by proxy.

The first order of business was the election of a secretary. Secretary D

Alderman McKey protested, but the office was forced upon him.

W. Watt announced that he would be out of town much of the time next summer, and declined a re-election for that reason. He was given a complimentary vote on the first ballot, however. George M. McKey received 43 of the 93 votes cast, and Mr. Watt, C. C. Fisher and C. K. Miltimore got the rest. A motion was then made that Alderman McKey be elected by acclammation, and the motion prevailed. He protested, but the crowd refused to listen, and the election was forced upon him.

It was reported by the special committee that the society owed $10,000, and that about $1 300 was for interest premiums and current expenses. An assessment to cover this sum was ordered.

It was decided unanimously that the assessment should be enough to cover floating indebtedness, but not to exceed $10 a share.

The salary of the president was fixed at $25, the treasurer as $25, and the secretary at $100, and the meeting adjourned.

THE YOUNGEST CYCLIST.

Miss Annie Brain, Des Moines, Rides a Wheel and Performs Tricks.

Annie Brain is perhaps the youngest trick rider in the world, if not the youngest child who ever rode a bicycle. She is 3 years old, and has been riding for two months. Her parents live in Des Moines, Ia., where her father is in business. The wheel she rides was made to order. It has a twelve-inch frame and is geared to thirty-six. The wheels are fourteen inches high, and the weight is less than ten pounds. The tiny machine is silver-plated, and cost $200. After a very few lessons on the wheel, given by her father, Miss Annie was able to ride alone, and she can now go where she pleases with ease. She picked up the numerous tricks that she performs by watching her elders and the few professionals she saw. To these she added tricks of her own invention, until now she can give a performance that contains many new feats. She has appeared at various bicycle meets in Iowa, and a short time ago captured the visitors at a meet of the A. A. clubs in St. Louis. During the state fair at Des Moines she will make her last public appearance, as her father is afraid the excitement attending public performances may have an injurious effect.

She is a member of the Syracuse Bicycle club of Des Moines, and proudly carries a watch as diminutive as herself, which was presented by other members of the club. She has numerous other prizes and trophies won and presented to her.—New York World.

New Designs in Jewelry.

Jewels and gems are perennially dear to the feminine heart, and whether the white or the yellow standard waves triumphant in November neither will be deposed from its place of usefulness in adornment of the fair. Wherefore the wise tradesman, without waiting for the result of the election, even now has his most artistic craftsmen and cunning workers in gold and silver designing and producing dainty conceits in precious metals and stones which in a few months will flash and sparkle on beauty's brow or hand in drawing room and assembly hall. Many of the new designs are most lovely, and the dealers are not lacking in confidence when they tell you this or that exquisite shape is sure to be the style in jewelry this coming winter. "Russian work," for instance, is growing more artistic and promises to increase in popularity over last season, probably on account of the interest in the coronation ceremonies a few weeks ago. The Russian buckles are most elaborate affairs. A choice design is in dark blue enameled, with a half Moorish figure, a small dagger of silver and blue catching the buckle as a fastener in the center. They are obtainable in blue or red enamel, plain or colored gold. The gold and silver bullion braid for the belt is very elaborate and worth twenty cents an inch. Quotations in Russian are inscribed upon many of the buckles, but no one has been curious enough to have found their meaning. These buckles are said is growing more artistic and promises the Russian nobility, and they are unique enough to satisfy the most fastidious. The dragon, with spreading wings and glistening, jeweled eyes, will be observed everywhere, in the scarf pin, hat pin, and to decorate the evening bodice. The crown, whether in jewels or carved in gold or silver, will be a design much worn.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Statistics of a Remarkable Family.

German township, Marshall county, Indiana, has a remarkable family. They are the Heckamans, the pioneers of that family being Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Heckaman, Sr., who came from Starke county, Ohio, in the early 30s, and are the oldest settlers of Marshall county, the husband now being 83 years old, the wife 81. Neither had ever seen an electric light until last winter, though both were near towns that used them. The wife never rode on a railroad until about a year ago. Both are excellently preserved, and are the parents of ten sons and two daughters, all living in that vicinity except one daughter, with seven children, who resides in Kansas. Four of the sons are the parents of twelve children each, and there are 157 of that name, none more distantly related than first cousins, who reside within a distance of two miles in that locality. So numerous are the Heckamans in that neighborhood that the advent of a new infantile aspirant for a name different from that of some neighboring Heckaman is a matter of grave concern, and names are now found duplicated and triplicated, causing considerable confusion. The Heckamans dwell there harmoniously, and their good will is of no small political importance. The senior Heckamans are great-great-grandparents, and the family has been noted for its longevity—one, a Mrs. Wryough, living to be 103 years old. Besides those mentioned, quite a number of the Heckamans live in localities a little more distant. The family is a Marshall county marvel.—Boston Advertiser.

Curious Wedding Ring.

Mrs. Martin Luther's wedding ring was a most curious and elaborate affair, says a writer in the Cincinnati Enquirer. Some Cincinnati ladies who recently saw it in their summer travels state that the wonderful little ring contains representations of all the articles used at the crucifixion. The ladder, the cross, rope, nails, the hammer, spear, and even the thorns are shown on its surface.

"No, I haven't," was the reply. "I can't think of it to save my life, although I have it right at my finger's end."—N. Y. World.

"Pretty?" she exclaimed, with infinite scorn. "Why I happen to know that that hat only cost ten dollars."—Chicago Post.

Woman's World.

Thick, rough wool goods, warm and flexible, are most employed for walking gowns, but smooth cloth is also much worn, although it is far less serviceable, showing the effects of dampness and dust very quickly. Large, dark plaids having astrakhan lines in them are greatly liked in Paris. They are really very light, although they look heavy, and are favored for traveling gowns made with a not too wide skirt and coat bodice—close and loose—of plain goods, matching one of the tones in the plaid skirt and trimmed with brandebourgs and mohair military braid.

Green in all tones is the most fashionable color, and navy blue, dark red and golden brown are also worn. Demitoilets of black cloth or serge are liked, the costume being enlivened by a touch of color in the hat or by the fur which completes it.

Silk linings are always desirable for skirts, but it is a question whether they are equally desirable for bodices. A silk lined corsage does not "give" any more than if it were made of tin, although it seems supple and flexible enough. It is therefore less easy to fit and less comfortable to wear than one lined with sateen or percaline. For loose coats silk is, of course, to be preferred. Jackets and capes are lined with surah, satin merveilleux or heavily ribbed silk serge when wadded and quilted satin is not used. Pale linings are the most elegant even for dark garments. White and straw accompany all colors satisfactorily and are specially liked with black, and deep colored velvets. Red linings are reserved for wraps for ordinary wear and traveling. Fur capes are lined with satin matching the fur in tone, except the very fine furs, which are lined with pure white or cream satin.

An illustration is given of a bodice having a guimpe and high, fancy collar of velvet. Draperies of striped surah are fastened with knots at the shoulders, and, crossing before and at the back, pass under a high, pointed corselet of velvet bordered with narrow embroidery. The close sleeves of striped surah have full velvet puffs at the top.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN.

The Fat Woman's Lot Is Hard—The Thin One's Harder.

Women as a mass seem to be divided into two grand classes, those who want to be fatter and those who want to be thinner. It is a pity that fate—or nature, which is the same—should not give a little more consideration to her distribution of avoirdupois, and with the same quantity to dispose of should not divide it more equally, so that everybody would be satisfied. It is in vain to describe a thin woman as "willowy" and a plump one as "Junoesque." They may accept the definitions with complacency to all outward appearance, because it is well bred to appear self satisfied and at ease, but the one knows perfectl well that she is verging on clumsiness, while the other is equally well aware that she is angular. The plump woman has rather the best of the matter, however, for her contours are soft, and she can by suffering enough starve and bathe and rub the superfluous flesh away, while by no means can a too slender woman add, not a cubit to her stature, which she seldom desires to do, but 25 pounds to her weight. She may leave off corsets and thereby suffer all things at the hands of her dressmaker. She may eat until she is nauseated and take tonics until the world seems like one huge bottle of bitters. She may eschew pickles and live upon chocolate, oatmeal, beets, milk, carrots and similar prescribed foods. Her collar bones will yet be in evidence, and she cannot fall back on a slim waist and a graceful walk if she wishes to produce a good effect. Some way these never seem as positive and satisfactory charms as do the solid curves of more robust womanhood, and, as a matter of fact, it may be safely assumed that there are more thin women desirous of being fat than there are fat ones anxious to be thin.

Today's illustration shows an attractive evening costume of linden green satin. It is of the princess form, opening at the middle of the back. A band of sable edges the foot of the skirt, and the fronts are slightly ornamented with four quillés of lace fastened with choux of roses. There is a plastron of lace at the front of the bodice, and the shoulders are slightly draped with lace, roses being placed at the top.

Many Orders Ahead.

Mr. Slowpay (airily)—I wish to get measured for a suit of clothes, but it will be about three weeks before I can pay for them, as our pay-day comes only once a month now. How soon can you have them done?

Tailor—Um—let me see. In about three weeks.—N. Y. Weekly.

Consequences.

His wife's millinery bill slipped from his nerveless fingers.

"The consequences of your extravagance," he exclaimed, "be upon your own head."

They were, with the exception of Thursday afternoon, when the cook wore them.—Chicago Journal.

Improving His Time.

Mamma—What in the world are you doing, child?

Willie—I'm scouring the rust off papa's watch.

Mamma—What put such an idea into your head?

Willie—Well, he said it had been in soak for nearly a year.—N. Y. Herald.

Sweet Relief.

"I tell you, nature never gives us more than we can stand. Look at Gildby. Yesterday he was attended by two doctors and three trained nurses."

"And then what happened?"

"Death came and put an end to his sufferings."—Brooklyn Life.

Lost—A dear little child—who made home happy by its smiles. And to think, it might have been saved had the parents only kept in the house One Minute Cough Cure, the infallible remedy for croup. C. D. Stevens.

Ohic ra. Pa., "Herald:" Richard Vensel reports One Minute Cough Cure the greatest success of medical science. He told us that it cured his whole family of terrible coughs and colds, after all other so called cures had failed entirely. Mr Vensel said it assisted his children through a very bad siege of measles. One Minute Cough Cure makes expectoration very easy and rapid. C. D. Stevens.

Murder the Result of a Quarrel.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 30.—Shortly after 3 o'clock Friday Willard Colton, 45 years old, of 114 Sibley street, shot and almost instantly killed his wife, Clarissa, aged 52, and shot himself in the head, dying in a short time.

Colton was a traveling salesman for a Chicago shoe house and, it is said, drank heavily at times, which led to frequent quarrels between himself and wife. The couple were married in 1892, both having been married before.

FREE TO EVERY MAN

WHICH CURED HIM AFTER EVERYTHING ELSE FAILED.

THE METHOD OF A GREAT TREATMENT FOR WEAKNESS OF MEN.

Painful diseases are bad enough, but when a man is slowly wasting away with nervous weakness, the mental forebodings are ten times worse than the most severe pain. There is no let up to the mental suffering day or night. Sleep is almost impossible and under such a strain men are scarcely responsible for what they do. For years the writer rolled and tossed on the troubled sea of sexual weakness until it was a question whether he had not better take a dose of poison and thus end all his troubles. But providential inspiration came to his aid in the shape of a combination of medicines that not only completely restored the general health, but enlarged his weak, emaciated parts to natural size and vigor, and he now declares that any man who will take the trouble to send his name and address may have the method of this wonderful treatment free. Now when I say free I mean absolutely without cost, because I want every weakened man to get the benefit of my experience.

I am not a philanthropist, nor do I pose as an enthusiast, but there are thousands of men suffering the mental tortures of weakened manhood who would be cured at once could they but get such a remedy as the one that cured me. Do not try to study out how I can afford to pay the few postage stamps necessary to mail the information, but send for it, and learn that there are a few things on earth that although they cost nothing to get they are worth a fortune to some men and mean a lifetime of happiness to most of us. Write to Thomas Slater, Box 494, Kalamazoo, Mich., and the information will be mailed in a plain sealed envelope.

The Taste of Tea Drinkers.

This and not our own inclination has compelled us to sacrifice the profit on Lipton Teas. Popular demand has turned strongly in Janesville during the last year to the Monscon brand, The Monsoon is a revelation to those who enjoy the full, rich flavor of the best Ceylon Teas. It makes a place for itself in every home where it is used. In brief—Monsoon Tea sells itself, while the general run of Ceylon Teas need considerable salesmanship. If nobody had tasted Monsoon Tea we could sell Lipton's at regular prices, but that is neither here nor there. Our policy is to let no goods grow old on our hands—freshness must be the attribute of everything sent from the Sanborn store. Hence we spur up slow-moving lines by dropping prices. Lipton's Teas for the next ten days 38 cents a pound; two pounds for 70 cents.
